Research & Report Guide

- You will print out several Online articles and highlight the important information needed to fill out your research graphic organizer.
- Record short bullet point facts --no sentences on the graphic organizer.
- Next, you will take the information from the graphic organizer, and put them into your own sentences. The sentences will be written on different colored index cards according to topic/area of the famous person's life. Each card's sentences should stay on topic and help create 5 separate paragraphs.
- Finally, you will write or type your research report.

Famous Hoosier Speech

- After your written report is finished, you will highlight 10 sentences that are the most important to tell about your person.
- You will use only one speech/note card to write your speech.
- This is a "Living Wax Museum". It is your job to bring your famous Hoosier to life by dressing in character and/or having props.
- After a visitor pushes your "BUTTON," you will come to life, and tell the most important things you want everyone to know about him or her.
- This should be short like an info. commercial. No more than 10 sentences.
- As you decide what to include in your speech, use the following questions to guide you.

Questions and Connections to your famous Hoosier.

- What do you want people to know about you?
- Why are you famous?
- What makes you unique?
- Why do people remember you?
- How did you make a difference?
- What was your positive influence in the world?
- What is your connection to Indiana?

- What were some of you personal qualities/character traits that helped you succeed?

*(determination, curiosity, perseverance, positive thinker, doing your best, never giving up etc.)

Items completed at school:

- Research of Famous Hoosier
- Writing the Report & Script
- Creation of Famous Hoosier Display

Items completed at home:

- Practicing Speech
- Creating/finding costume and/or prop

*Some items may need to be finished at home if not completed in class.

Dress for Success:

You are required to dress like your Famous Hoosier on the day of the Living Wax Museum. Remember you are being recognized for your achievements. Be creative! There are lots of homemade props which would help bring your person to life. Think about it... What could you do to capture your audience's attention?

Display Board:

You are required to create a poster describing the Famous Hoosier's achievements and timeline of their life. You will create captions for the photos and mark a map where he or she lived. Make it neat, organized, colorful, and easy for students to read and learn from your display.
